ALEXANDRIA, VA.

TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1870.

Gov. Bowie, of Md., has sent a message to the Legislature of that State, relative to the C. & O. Canal, in which he recommends that the management of this great work be placed beyond political control; that the President and Directors be selected from individual stockholders of the work, who are to receive no compensation, and that a Superintendent be appointed at a salary of $8,000 to $10,000 per annum. The Governor denounces the past management of the Canal and the vast accumulation of debt. He says the interest in arrear and unpaid amounts to more than the principal and the total bonded debt of the Company: principal and interest have reached the enormous sum of four millions two hundred thousand dollars, while the claims of the State have grown by the non-payment of dividends on her preferred stock and interest on her mortguage debts, to nearly twenty million of dollars.

The failure of the Albert Life Insurance Company last August in England, with the twenty-four other offices it had absorbed, involving no less than £10,000,000, for which it scarcely had any assets, promises to lead to the ness being attributable to the delay consequent passage of an act by the British Parliament which will protect the policy-holder, in a great measure. The facts brought forward in the discussion of the bill show the enormous proportions which the life insurance business in England has assumed. RICHMOND, March 14. - The Legislature has gone to work, the hitherto apparent dilatoriupon the assembling of any deliberative body. where the business has to be prepared in committee; but now that it is being carried out, action is speedy, and in the end time will be saved. Work well considered and digested in committee prevents discussions and expedites

It would be well if the Legislature were to abandon the practice of granting "leaves of absence," which has been carried to an excess, scarcely a day passing that one or more members are not excused from service for three or four days, or a week or ten days. It a deduction for absence was made in the pay, there would be less frequent application for "leave" and some such rule should be adopted.

Instead of being permitted, at once to go about adapting the old laws to the present state of affairs, or enacting the requisite new ones, the Legislature has been met at the very threshold by conflicting railroad interests, and the time and attention of members is taken up with the consideration of schemes which have for their object the building up of some particular point to the detriment of some other, or discriminating in favor of one particular the Senate yesterday, to provide for the return that accord, which should exist and that sinvelopment of each section for the benefit of the whole, it is found that jealousies and selfish ends have usurped sway, and as a sequence, wrangling and divisions exist when there should be harmony, unity, and a sole aim and desire to regain our lost wealth, power, and position. The leaders of the different factions of the Radical party in the State have met here and by an adroit movement, succeeded in getting Porter and his clique, between "the upper and the nether millstone"-i. e. the three high contracting parties .- Wickham, Gilmer and Porter are to appoint each fifty delegates, one hundred and fifty in all, who are to assemble in convention, on the 6th proximo, in Richmond, to consult as to the best method of re-uniting the dissected fragments of the defunct body politic of Radicalism, erroneously styled "Republican." Of course two against one must prevail, and as both the Wickham and Gilmer wings are hostile to Porter, that individual and his small band of followers must go to the wall. It was right difficult to get Porter into the trap, and he required a good deal of coaxing, but now in it will not be difficult to manage him, unless he "appeals to the masses" (colored) with whom he is strong; in that case there will be another open rupture; in any event there seems but little prospect of a reorganization. Senator Lewis was among those who met and if any doubt existed as to his full membership with the ultras, it was removed by his open assertion that the salvation of the "union men" depended upon keeping the State out of the hands of the" Rebel Democracy." LETTER FROM RICHMOND.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette. RICHMOND, March 14. - The Senate, to day, agreed to the report of the Conference Committee, on the oath bill, which excludes the anti dueling oath (it being a requirement of the Constitution) and retains the 14th amendment outh for twelve months, it being expected that by that time Congress will remove the the Azores on the 13th of February, but from disabilities of all who are laboring under them

It is now "consolidation" and "anti-consolidat the two adjoining buildings. Loss estimated tion," and the first gun was fired to day, when the following resolutions were introduced and adopted by the Senate:

Resolved, That the Committee on Roads inquire and report:

1. Whether the Virginia and Tennessee railroad company, as now managed, is violating the provisions of its amended charter, passed March 6, 1849, by unlawful discrimination against other works of internal improvement connecting at Lynchburg, as to freight or fares, or as to facilities of transportation and interchange of tonnage and travel.

2. Whether the said company is not violating the provisions of the act, passed April 25, 1867, chapter 104, by unlawful discriminations against tonnage to points within the State, and in favor of tonnage to points beyond the limits of the State, and by other unlawful discriminations prohibited by the said act; and that said committee have authority to send for persons and papers.

The House amendments to the Senate bill for the incorporation of the Virginia marble company, of Loudoun county, were agreed to. The bill to provide for a registration of voters in the State, was considered but not finally acted upon. In the House of Delegates a resolution petitioning Congress to grant a general amnesty to all citizens of Virginia now laboring under political disabilities, was referred; also, A resolution requesting the Senators and Representatives in Congress to procure such an amendment to the bankrupt act as will extend its provisions for a discharge of bankrupts to July 1st, 1871, and will ratify the homestead exemption of $2,000 which is provided for by the present constitution of Virginia, that in strument having been approved as just, liberal and republican. Among the resolutions of enquiry introduced, was one into the expediency of imposing a tax per capita on all laborers induced by labor agents to leave the State; the tax to be appropriated to the support of the aged and indigent negroes left on the State; the tax to be paid by the agent or agents.

The bill to organize a 'State Board of Immigration for Virginia," to establish local boards in connection therewith, and provide a fund to aid in defraying the necessary expenses of the State Board, was read and referred to the proper committee.

The bill to incorporate the Potomae and Manassas railroad company was amended and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading. The bill authorizing the Board of Public Works to examine all claims against the Covington and Ohio Railroad Company, for work &c., and to report to the General Assembly, was concurred in.

A communication from the Governor, enclosing one from General R. E. Lee, on the subjeet of the Southern boundary of the State, was laid before the House, and ordered to be Several bills of incorporation were considered and advanced on the calendar.

The Radical leaders, after agreeing to have "conference" on the 6th of April, have adourned. Mr. John F. Lewis announced at the meeting that he was no longer in accord with Gov. Walker-a patent fact. The real object of the little gathering seems to have been to concentrate, in order that the leaders may have the distribution of the Federal patronage in the districts represented by Ridgway, Milnes, and Gibson, who have refused to unite.

It was stated by Mr. Lewis that he had come to Richmond at the earnest request of Gen. Grant, but as there was not the slightest ne cessity for a political move at this time, and as the offices in the gift of the Federal authorities are to be distributed, it is thought by many, as probable, that the parceling out of these offices was at the bottom of the move-

The Attorney General of the State, to day, sent to the House of Delegates his opinion in reference to the 14th amendment oath as applicable to State officers, in which he decides that the office of a State officer held prior to the passage of the said 14th amendmen, is not vacated by the failure of the incumbent to subscribe to the oath prescribed by that amendment: turther, that the official acts of magistrates now in office are valid until their successors are appointed or elected and qualified.

The opinion is a long and able one. The opinion was rendered in the case of J. E. Budd, member of the House from Loudoun, who held the office of Justice of the Peace by appointment of Gen. Stoneman, and not wishing to hold longer failed to qualify as required by act of Congress admitting the State to representation. By the decision of the Attorney General Mr. B. is still a magistrate and can only "get out" by resignation.

A shocking accident happened at Williams burg on Friday last, the news of which has just reached here. It appears that two young gentlemen, J. M. Maupin and Thos. evening, Earl Granville said the Government would ask for further power to deal with the violators of law in Ireland, and a bill containing severe police regulations had been prepared and would soon be submitted. This statement was received with uproarious applause from both sides of the House. Mr. Gladstone said this brief announcement was all that it was expedient now to make.

[COMMUNICATED.

The object of this communication is to draw the attention of the citizens of this good old town and State to the fact that great events are taking place west of us that particularly interest the future prosperity of Alexandria. While on an extensive trip of more than a month, I took occasion to look into the workings of the wonderful internal improvement system that is building up like magic the waste places of the vast country west of us. While in the Queen City of the West, Cincinnati, through the courtesy of the accomplished and gentlemanly proprietor of the Daily Cincinnati Enquirer, I was invited to the superb banquet given at the farfamed Burnett House, in honor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, at which was assembled not only the entire Legislature of Kentucky, but many of the intelligent men of both of these States. I will not trespass on your space, but, to be brief, will say, that the object in giving this banquet was to show the good feeling entertained by the citizens of Cincinnati for those of Kentucky, and to prevail upon the Legislature of the latter State to grant a charter to the corporation of Cincinnati to build a railroad through Kentucky to Chattanooga. As an invited guest, I do not feel privileged to discuss the merits of this charter, nor the subsequent action of the Legislature of Kentucky in refusing to grant it-all this being a matter of record, can be examined by those who feel interested enough to do so. On that and subsequent occasions, I made it a point to draw the attention of the Governor of Ohio, Col. Baber, member from Columbus, and many others of both States to the fact that Alexandria, on the Potomac, was by far the nearest point to the sea and to the capital of the United States from Cincinnati, and that at Alexandria we had already commenced a railroad—the Loudoun & Hamp-shire—looking to the Ohio, and that in the event of a failure of Cincinnati's getting a charter to Chattanooga, they could not do bet-ter than join hands with the old mother State in this Alexandria enterprise. Cincinnati has the two powerful corporations
